Description:

Assistant Professor of Physical Therapy, Musculoskeletal Emphasis

This position is a ten (10) month non-tenure track (term) faculty appointment at the assistant professor level in the Department of Physical Therapy at Marymount University, beginning August 15, 2013.

Required qualifications:

- Post-professional doctoral degree (PhD, DSc, EdD); OR DPT with advanced clinical specialization required;

Expertise in orthopedic physical therapy;

- Physical therapy license, or license eligible, in Virginia;

Preferred qualifications

- Teaching experience in orthopedic physical therapy;
- Active involvement in APTA.

Responsibilities

- Core faculty member responsible for teaching, continued development, and evaluation of the orthopedic content of the program; other teaching responsibilities consistent with expertise;
- Engage in scholarship activities consistent with CAPTE requirements for core faculty;
- Contribute to program and curriculum assessment and planning activities.

Setting

Marymount University, located in Arlington, Virginia, is a comprehensive, coeducational Catholic university serving nearly 4,000 undergraduate and graduate students. The physical therapy program is located at the University's Ballston Center, just 2 blocks from the Ballston metro, in an active and vibrant urban community.

The Program

The PT program uses a modified problem-based educational format and integrates clinical education experiences early in the curriculum. There are 38 students in each of three cohort groups in this 3 year, 9 semester program. The program has 8 full-time faculty members, and numerous adjunct faculty who assist in problem-based tutorials and serve as lab assistants.
